

Four Seasons Resort Nevis

 Hotel Rating: 5 Star

Overview

Mountain peaks

Situated on a four-mile beach with 3,232 ft. Nevis Peak rising dramatically in the background, the resort is framed by lush gardens ensuring guests' privacy.

Accommodation options

196 guestrooms and suites occupy two-story cottages. Guests can also stay in private villas or estate homes.

Dining, entertainment

Attractions include two infinity-edge pools, water sports, and sea-view restaurants.

What to Expect: Occupying 350 acres on Nevis' west coast, the resort blends into its green grounds and the ecru-colored beach with low-rise buildings. Gardens screen buildings, the golf course climbs up a hillside, and the beach spreads far and wide leaving plenty of room for tranquil, uncrowded vacationing. Annually voted at or near the top in Travel + Leisure's annual readers' poll of Caribbean resorts, the Four Seasons attracts celebrities and others seeking rest and relaxation as well as Caribbean scenery.

Amenity Highlights: The resort lies on Pinney's Beach, a 4-mile stretch of ecru-colored volcanic sand that is roughly 75 feet deep in front of the Four Seasons and strewn with tiny seashells and dotted with short palm trees. Because the resort lies on the western, or leeward, side of Nevis, the Caribbean Sea lapping the beach is flat and calm. Two infinity-edge freeform pools face the sea, one for activities the other for adults. A spa shaped like a Christmas-tree bell accommodates 20 soakers. Sundecks and beach are furnished with thickly cushioned lounge chairs and umbrellas colored like the beach.

Insider Tip: Sunshine's, a famed Caribbean beach "joint" specializing in lobster and a secret-ingredient rum punch, is adjacent to the resort and attracts resort guests, passing boaters, and celebrities from around the world, as photos with the proprietor attest.

Property Amenities

The resort features a large spa complex secluded among gardens and trees, offering full views of 3,232-foot Nevis Peak rising in the background. Six treatment rooms are located in the spa's main building. Six others are located in tiny, yellow cottages clustered among the gardens and containing picture windows offering garden/mountain views. At the complex's center lies a wood relaxation deck under a peaked wood ceiling containing wood-paddle ceiling fans. The deck is furnished with thickly cushioned teak lounge chairs, offers panoramic mountain views, and is fronted by a long plunge pool. Nearby, a granite-lined, freeform spa accommodating 20 or more soakers lies next to a volcanic-stone wall and garden. The spa complex also includes a large, air-conditioned fitness center containing cardio machines with television sets, weight-training machines, and free weights and a beauty shop. The spa's men's and women's sides include steam rooms. Spa cuisine such as chilled watermelon soup, soy-grilled chicken breast, baked fish, and juice drinks is served on an outdoor deck. Spa options include hydrotherapy with Vichy showers, massage, body treatments, and facials. Half- and full-day sessions are available. Signature treatments include Four Seasons in One (back scrub, floral body wrap, massage medley, herbal scalp treatment); Gentleman's Celestial Shower (exfoliation, rain shower, massage); The Essence of Rain Massage (hydro massage, body exfoliation, water-jet treatment, moisturizing); and The Peak (facial cleansing and peel, line-lift serum, leg and foot massage). Other choices include Mango Sea Salt Glow, Nectar Body Polish, and Ginger Soak Body Wrap. Massage options include one for couples. A complimentary air-conditioned room offers daily supervised activities for children age 3-9. A complimentary air-conditioned teen center includes video games, a television, and pool table.
