Round Hill Hotel & Villas

Hotel Rating: 5 Star ★★★★★

Overview

Peninsula retreat

Secluded on a peninsula eight miles west of Montego Bay, this resort serves as a retreat for the world-famous as well as the world-weary.

TV-free relaxation

Accommodations include seaside hotel rooms and large villas tucked into forested hillsides - all without television.

Forest spa

An isolated, tranquil adults-only section on 10 acres of oceanfront lawn contains a spa offering hydrotherapy in the forest.

What to Expect: Begun in 1953 as a collection of villas on a 110-acre pineapple/allspice/coconut plantation, the resort has long served socialites and celebrities. Villa owners have included writer/producer Noel Coward, Viscount and Viscountess Rothermere, and, currently, designer Ralph Lauren. Accustomed to opulence, owners come here for the restful rusticity, which also attracts celebrity and non-celebrity couples and families.

Amenity Highlights: A large pool overlooks a little bay lapping a private beach. A smaller pool lies within a five-hectare (10-acre), adults-only spa-and-fitness retreat, which is accessible by a path along the bay. The resort provides complimentary snorkeling gear, kayaks, pedal boats, windsurfers, and Hobie Cat sailboats as well as glass-bottom-boat tours. Water skiing, scuba diving, fishing and a 15.5-meter (51-ft) crewed catamaran are available for surcharges.

Insider Tip: Along a winding, seaside path between the main resort and the spa retreat lies a limestone cliff pocked by shallow caves, which guests decorate with white stones plucked from the shore.
